

CONTEMPORARY FORGED METALWORK

blacksmithdesigner.com

Inspired by the traditions of this ancient craft James Price has been forging original metalwork for the past 10 years. James's work has become known for its combination of contemporary design, use of traditional forged techniques and fine craftsmanship. The work both sculptural and functional ranges from architectural commissions and interior pieces to public art. James works to commission and his metalwork can be found throughout the UK, Europe and North America.
